Provide link or text which describes student degree transfer policy (from 2-year institutions to this university)	Transfer of Credit Policies-- Baker College welcomes transfer students into many degree programs at either the associate or bachelor level. Students with associate degrees will be given every consideration to transfer their full associate degrees (two years of credits) into one of Baker College's programs. However, transfer students are responsible for the prerequisite knowledge necessary for subsequent courses. With our many bachelor and accelerated bachelor programs, students can enter bachelor degree programs with the same majors as their associate degree or begin different majors and have transfer credits apply to their programs. A transfer student could receive freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior status, although more than one or two academic years may be necessary to complete all requirements of the degree. Courses with a grade of C (2.0) or higher will be eligible for transfer credit except for specific program standards. Refer to individual program requirements. Courses with a D- (0.7) grade will be considered if the D-grade falls in a course sequence in which the

	last grade in the sequence was a grade of a C or better. Transfer students need to be aware that length of time since the course was taken may be a factor in transferability. Credits will be accepted from regionally accredited institutions, degreegranting nationally accredited institutions, and the United States Armed Forces. For a previously earned undergraduate degree from a regionally accredited institution, the general education course requirements for either the associate or the bachelor degree — depending on the transferred degree level — are considered satisfied. Specific program requirements and/or program accreditation standards may impose limitations or additional requirements. To transfer a course, the course must equate in content and semester hours to a Baker College course. Credits for armed forces or workforce training must be equated to Baker College courses and documented by the American Council on Education (ACE). Transfer credits accepted must be at the college level. Baker College adheres to the Michigan Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers' (MACRAO) official transcript policy. The MACRAO policy is one in which all Michigan colleges agree not to issue an official transcripts directly to students. Official transcripts must be sent directly to the intended institutions either through the U.S. Postal Service or an approved electronic format. To obtain transfer credits, official transcripts from previous colleges must be submitted to our campuses' admissions offices. Transcripts will be considered official only when received directly from the institutions through the U.S. Postal Service or electronically from the institutions or third-party vendors. In some circumstances, students will be responsible for producing documentation, including, but not limited to, catalogs, course descriptions, and syllabi.
